

Dear Colleague:

It is with great pleasure that I announce the winner of the inaugural Ellen Lebeuf Memorial Education Award. Ellen was a nurse at Rhode Island Hospital for nearly 50 years. Our hospital was her second home and she considered everyone she worked with to be her second family. Because education was so important to Ellen, when she passed away, her family worked with the hospital to create a $2,000 annual award to help a Rhode Island Hospital employee further their health care education. Many of Ellen's colleagues donated to the fund, and I thank them for their generosity.

Please join me in congratulating Amanda Fontaine on receiving this special award. Amanda has been a nursing assistant at Rhode Island Hospital for close to 12 years and is currently pursuing a degree in nursing at the Community College of Rhode Island.
